

Homework Policy

We have homework every night. It is always listed on my web page. If there isn't homework, it will be on the site as well. The homework is usually a written assignment or a math page. On the written work, please help your child with it. It is a terrific time for you to work together. Don't worry about misspelled words. Correct a few and let the rest go. If a child does not have their homework, they will have to pull a star. If you are having a bad evening and homework does not get finished, just send me a note with your child. On Thursday nights homework will always be one part of our curriculum coming home for your signature. Example: I might send their journal home, you can read all their writings with them and send it back to school on Friday with your signature.
